Advanced Design... Traditional Feeling.

Designed to change the quality of your life, the EXM-2800S features all your favorite exercises in a format that you already know how to use. Simple adjustments and careful craftsmanship allow the user to perform flat, incline, decline and shoulder press exercises from their traditional lying or seated positions. Our unique cable mechanism allows you to adjust the starting point of your exercise to ensure full range of motion for maximum results. Six great exercise stations allow you to perform over 30 exercises that target every major muscle group in the privacy of your own living space.

The EXM-2800S will help you look and feel better each day that you use it and you can feel confident knowing that you purchased a machine that was built to last as long as its warranty - a lifetime. Our industrial grade pulleys, steel weight stack enclosures, aircraft quality cable, heavy grade steel mainframes and durable upholstery will make your workouts comfortable and hassle free for years to come. If you have been searching for a health club quality exercise machine with a traditional design, the EXM-2800S was made for you. EXM-2800S
